

I support satellite radio! I am not in the least interested in the concerns of broadcast radio since they're apparently not in the least interested in my concerns. I began subscribing to satellite radio in Nov 2003 because I am dissatisfied with the offerings of broadcast radio, and have been delighted with my new experience. I was even more ecstatic when XM radio started offering local traffic and weather for my region. I get wonderful music of all genres (and I listen to most of them), and hear traffic reports when I need them as I commute. All without the things broadcast radio seems to provide best -- offensively loud and obnoxious commercials, inane and completely meaningless blather about nothing, and offensive DJs. Please don't allow the National Association of Broadcasters to avoid what is part of our economy -- competition. Satellite radio should have a place in our nation's communications system.
